What is Vollara?

We are an on Online Membership Club, focused on making available the best, scientifically based, and proven health, wellness and environmentally safe green technology products to our members. Think of it like a health and wellness focused Costco or Sams without stores.

As a member, you will have the opportunity to buy at wholesale prices the top products in the world that will enrich you and your family's lives. We eliminate the guess work when you are shopping for health and wellness products. You will know that you are getting the very best.

There's an old saying, "You can have all the money and free time in the world, but if you don't have your health they are not worth very much". We agree!

Vollara is dedicated to uncompromising health. We are concerned, as you should be, with the nutrition you provide your body, the way you manage your weight, the air you breath in your home, the water you drink, and even how you wash your clothes.

The physical health of our members is our #1 goal. We also have a goal to help our members with their financial health by making available part-time and career opportunities that can change their current and future finances in a positive way. If you keep your options open to make additional money, then this may be what you are looking for. Vollara has a Family Tree Compensation Plan.

We always say; "Treat your body like you are going to need it for 100 years". Vollara makes it easy, convenient and affordable for our members to get the world's best health, wellness and environmentally safe products by shopping from home, all with a 30-Day Money Back Guarantee, no questions asked.

Vollara is a division of Aerus Holdings, LLC, a company based in Dallas, TX with a 95 year history of success helping people around the world live better lives. People associated with NASCAR, MLB, NBA, NFL, X-Games along with millions of individuals and families are buying and using our products every day. Welcome to the world of health and personal wealth development! A trillion-dollar industry exploding with growth world-wide.
