

When You Know Better – You Can Do Better

I've heard the statement often - "Give the body what it needs and it will heal itself"

So the question remains - how do you know? Discovering the Helping Hand Cradle and forming a valued professional relationship is proving to be an excellent source of information. This is what my company, Vollara has recently done for us.

This FDA Cleared Class II Medical Device powered by ZYTO reveals how a person's body is performing and makes recommendations to resolve problems, providing you accurate and personalized information to guide and inform.

The software technology provides personalized reports to each person who has a scan. The body has a 'truth mechanism' using the skin conductivity in a galvanic skin response as you place your hand on the Helping Hand Cradle. It is a short process for the scan to be completed with you.

The personalized reports are shared with you and then emailed to each person the same day so you will have them to study further and share with others as you wish. The reports will show how your body is in balance and where your body may be out of balance. And you'll have information to read offering suggestions to use IF you choose to do so.

ZYTO analyzed and researched Vollara products and, as with our mission, they are very impressed with all we do as we offer THE very best for the average person. Our scientifically backed Nutritional and Green Technologies for air and water quality line up well with our "Health and Wellness – Family First" philosophy.
